THE VERDICT.

The Jury Quickly Agrees Upon $15,000 for Plaintiff in the Breckinridge-Pollard Case.

THE DEFENDANT WILL MOVE FOR A NEW TRIAL.

Washington, April 14.—Judge Bradley remained in his chair for a few minutes this afternoon after the Pollard jury went out, and then he walked around to the attorneys' room, where he awaited news from the jury. The court room rapidly cleared. Col. Breckinridge and his counsel started for the office of Mr. McKinney, the junior counsel, just across the street, and as he was coming down the court house steps an open barouch with two ladies in it drove up and waited on the curbstone to receive them. The ladies were Col. Breckinridge's wife and one of his daughters by his second marriage. The three chatted for awhile and then the ladies drove away leaving Col. Breckinridge standing on the pavement. He was smiling and he laughed heartily as he joined his attorneys. Judge Wilson and Mr. Carlyle, Miss Pollard's counsel, waited for the Verdict at Mr. Carlyle's office opposite the court house, with their client, who remained remarkably cool. Miss Ellie, the motherly lady from the house of mercy was also there. The brother of the plaintiff, who has not appeared in connection with the case, formed another of the party. About 100 men remained in the court room to secure good seats when the jury returned.

AGREED TO, AGREED.

At 4:30 the jurymen informed the bailiffs who had them in charge that they had agreed. Judge Bradley was advised immediately, and a minute later the jury filed slowly in, flanked by the bailiffs. Almost immediately behind them came Col. Breckinridge, easy and debonair as usual, with Col. Phil Thompson, Donah Breckinridge, and Mr. McKinney, who has not appeared in the case except to claim on the day after lawyer Shelby slapped lawyer Johnson's face, that he carried a gun. They sat down in their usual places and looked straight ahead.

While Judge Bradley waited for Miss Pollard's counsel to appear, the big room was quiet and still. At 4:40 Calderon Carlyle, Miss Pollard's attorney, entered and had hardly sat down when the clerk called the roll of the jury. Then he put the usual question:

"Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?"

Foreman Cole, the oldest man of the 12, rose slowly and answered:

"We have agreed upon a verdict, and find for the plaintiff."

"In what amount of damages?" said the clerk.

"Fifteen thousand dollars," was the answer.

There was not a sound in the room. Judge Bradley had taken occasion to warn the spectators just before the verdict was rendered, that demonstrations of approval or disapproval from the spectators would not be tolerated, and every man there heeded the warning.

Col. Breckinridge had his leaning-forward during the colloquy between the foreman and the clerk, and when the verdict was announced he did not change color, or manifest any signs of nervousness. When Foreman McKinney announced the amount, Col. Breckinridge turned to Col. Thompson and said: "How much?"

"Within four days," said Judge Bradley.

"Your honor," said Mr. McKinney, when Col. Breckinridge asked his question, "we give notice of an intention to file a motion for a new trial."

Judge Bradley bowed, and then turning to the jury thanked them for their faithful services and discharged them for the term.

The crowd filed out slowly, followed by the jury.

When the foreman had sat down Col. Breckinridge rose quickly to his feet and asked in his musical voice:

"If your honor please, within what time do you intend to file a motion for a new trial?"

"Within four days," said Judge Bradley.

Judge Bradley bowed, and then turning to the jury thanked them for their faithful services and discharged them for the term.

The crowd filed out slowly, followed by the jury.

THOMAS JEFFERSON.

Major Sanders Says Gov. Brown Acted According to a Long Established Precedent.

[Courier-Journal]

Gov. Brown's refusal to sign the Frankfort grand jury has caused much discussion among the lawyers. One interview, published in a morning paper, was to the effect that no distinction should be made between the Governor and any other citizen. Major J. W. Sanders takes an opposite view, and recites several interesting precedents. He made the following statement to a reporter of the Courier-Journal yesterday:

"When the Grand Jury of the United States circuit court at Richmond, Va., May term 1897, to investigate the charge of treason against Thomas Jefferson, President of the United States, to appear as a witness on behalf of the government of the United States, he flatly refused to do so. His sole ground was that he was Chief Executive of the United States. From that day to this the law in this respect has been settled. The reason of the rule is that the executive is one of the co-equal departments of the government, and as such is the Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy, and alone can provide troops to enforce the power of the court when its authority is defied. The executive of either State or Federal Government may be impeached, but not punished for contempt in refusing to obey process of the court. As the executive is co-equal with the judicial department of the government. To illustrate this instance, which occurred during the Presidency of Mr. Jefferson, is given. Judgement was rendered in the District Court of the United States at New Orleans, adjudging valuable real estate in that city to the clients of Mr. Edward Livingston, who was one of the most distinguished men in the United States, and this judgement was not enforced because the President, ordered the commander of the garrison at New Orleans to prevent its execution. This resulted in great pecuniary loss to Mr. Livingston and his clients. Livingston made continuous and unavailing efforts to get the President to enforce the judgement, which he considered to be a great wrong, which he sustained by this action of the President."

"When Mr. Jefferson's term of office as President expired Mr. Livingston brought suit in the Circuit Court of the United States at Richmond, Va., against Mr. Jefferson to recover damages for the loss which he and his clients had sustained because of the interference of the Executive in preventing the enforcement of the judgement rendered in the United States District Court at New Orleans. His attorney was Peter S. Du Pont, of Philadelphia, who was recognized as one of the foremost lawyers in the United States, and whose comments on the Constitution of the United States published many years ago indicate clearly that he was one of the great lawyers of the country. To this suit Jefferson pleaded in bar that the acts complained of were his official acts as President of the United States, and that he was not liable to be sued therefor. To this plea Mr. Du Pont made a powerful and demure. Upon full argument before Chief Justice Marshall at Richmond, Va., the decision was overruled by the Chief Justice, who held that the plea was a good and sufficient defense and that the character of the Executive has been asserted it has been sustained. Gen. Grant, when he was President, was subpoenaed and he obeyed it, and declined to avail himself of his executive privileges."

NO CRY FOR MADIE.

Across the street in Calderon Carlyle's office Miss Pollard was having an ovation. Mr. Carlyle had skipped nimbly out of the court room and gone to tell his client the verdict. She did not break down and cry, but expressed her joy by repeated hand shakes with her friends. Her brother closed the door of the room to keep out the rush.

Mr. Carlyle said that Miss Pollard did not care to talk. "She has kept herself as much in the background as possible," he said, "not only from our desire but from her own. I think it is best that she should say nothing soon after the close of the trial. Colonel Breckinridge also declined to talk, but he promised that he might have something to say within a day or two."

HOW IT WAS DONE.

Immediately after the jury retired Mr. Cole was elected foreman. A ballot was taken which resulted 11 to 1 in favor of the plaintiff. Some time was spent in bringing the extra jury over, and then the question of damages was taken up. One juror was in favor of giving the plaintiff the full amount claimed, $50,000, and the juror who voted for the defendant thought merely nominal damages, i.e., should be given. It was finally decided that each juror should write down an amount and the average would be taken, resulting in an award of $15,000.

NO MORE KICKING.

The Separate Coach Law Being Enforced and Observed.

[Frankfort Capital.]

It may not have occurred to many, but it is a little remarkable what has become of the great agitation which existed a short time ago over the separate coach law, and the great amount of talk about contesting its constitutionality. Indeed it seems that the colored people like the new arrangement as well as the whites do, and have withdrawn their support from the leaders who proposed to fight the law. A bare few of the railroads of the State are not complying strictly with their part of the law's provisions, but if any steps have been taken by the railroad commissioner or others to force them to do so, they have not been heard from. But on nearly every line in the State the very letter of the law is being enforced, and the test suit against it seem to have been either abandoned for the time or entirely so.

The Peddler Bill.

One of the best laws passed by the recent Legislature, and one that affects the bona fide business men in particular, is an amendment to "an act relating to taxation and revenue," whereby all sorts of peddlers and agents are required to pay a State license tax, viz: One person with two horse wagons, $50; one horse wagon, $40; person on horseback, $30; person on foot, who carries with him the goods he desires to sell, $20. One-fourth of these amounts will be charged for a county license alone. The license tax of peddlers of lightning rods and patent rights or territory for sale of patents shall be double the above. A person who under cover of a bona fide merchant takes up temporary residence in any county, city or town of this commonwealth for the purpose of peddling his goods and merchandise either at auction or otherwise shall pay a license tax of $100 and $100 additional for each clerk or employee. Heavy penalties attach to a violation of this law.

MORTGAGE INDEBTED.

Arkansas Has the Least and New York the Most.

The extra census bulletin No. 64 gives the statistical indebtedness in five sixths of the mortgage debt on real estate in the United States for 1889. The debt increased from $539,646,350 in 1880 to $1,381,684,380 in 1889, or over 150 per cent. This ratio was much greater on lots than on acre property. The debt on acre tracts in 1889 was $418,939,154, and on lots it was $962,745,227. The real estate mortgage debt existing Jan. 1st 1890 was $4,935,455,886, of which 34.17 per cent. was on acre property, and 65.83 per cent. on lots. New York shows the heaviest per cent. of mortgage per capita, $268. Arkansas the least, $117. Missouri $80, Georgia $115, Kansas $170, Illinois $100, Indiana $51, Alabama $26 and Florida $40.

SENATOR VANCE.

His Death Saturday at the National Capital.

Washington, April 14.—Senator Zebulon B. Vance, of North Carolina, died at his residence, 1027 Massachusetts avenue, at 10:45 o'clock to-night.

The senator had not been in good health for the past year, and in the early part of the session of congress he was compelled to abandon his senatorial duties and take a trip to Florida in the hope of recuperating. His trip proved beneficial, and on his return to Washington he was able to resume his official duties. His improvements, however, did not continue long, and for the last few weeks he has been confined to his home. He was practically an invalid, but lately has been able to receive a few intimate friends and superintend the looking after the interests of his constituents.

Shortly before 11 o'clock to-day he had an attack of apoplexy and became unconscious, regaining consciousness a few minutes before death. His wife, Thomas Allison, Harry Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vance, Judge and Mrs. Houk, Rev. Dr. Pinner and Mrs. W. W. Johnson and Rufin were at his bedside when he died.

The body of the senator will be taken to the ground at 12 m. and will have charge of the funeral and will make a full and necessary arrangement as to the family of the deceased. They will also determine whether or not the ceremony shall take place in the senate chamber.

Senator Zebulon B. Vance, of Charlotte, was born in Buncombe county, North Carolina, May 13th, 1830. Was elected to the United States senate in 1870, but was refused admission and resigned in January 1872; was the democratic nominee for the United States senate in 1872, but was defeated by a combination of bolting democrats and republicans; was elected governor of North Carolina for the third time in 1876; was elected to the United States senate as a democrat in the place of A. S. Merrimon, democrat. Took his seat March 18, 1879, and was re-elected in 1884 and 1890. His term of service would have expired March 8, 1897.

CLoud-BURST IN TEXAS.

Houses and Stock Washed Away and People May Have Been Drowned.

Waco, Texas, April 14.—Advises from Troy, thirty miles south, state that a terrible cloud-burst has flooded Elm creek bottoms, washing away crops for miles, totally destroying them. Many houses have been washed away, and much stock reported so far, but it is considered certain that some of the inhabitants living in that section must have perished, as they have not been heard from. Railway bridges and telegraph poles were washed away, cutting off communication.

At the last meeting of the city council, Mr. Eugene Young made a proposition to the city council to establish water works and an electric light plant. He will furnish as many fire pings as are needed to the number of 35 4) and twelve are electric lights for $2,500 per year.

Albert Carter, who has been in jail for several months at Henderson for alleged complicity in the killing of Abbie Oliver near Sturgis last year, arrived home last Friday, having been released on bail. He was on the streets Saturday looking well and expressing himself cheerfully. Nobody who knows him believes that he had any idea of the awful result of the ride to Terrell hill when he undertook it.

Mr. O. Ross Baker died at his home on College street yesterday afternoon at 1:23 o'clock, after a brief illness of urethral hemorrhage. The news was a shock to the community as his illness was not generally known. He was about 68 years old, a member of the Baptist church and a mason. He was a good and useful citizen and his death will be sincerely mourned by the entire community. He leaves a wife and four children, Messrs. Peter and John Baker, and two married daughters who live in the west. A sketch of his life will appear in the Banner next week.

Mrs. Louella Murray, who robbed Mrs. Wright's residence last week now stands no chance of going to the penitentiary for her crime. At the examining trial before Judge Jacob it was proved that the goods taken were of the value of $32 and she was held to answer to the circuit court. Her attorney, Mr. S. Hodge, applied for a writ of habeas corpus, which was granted and she went to the county jail. She was taken before Judge Randolph, who sentenced her to twenty-nine days confinement in the county jail.

Washington, April 15.—A large number of prominent women of Washington are determined to make an earnest effort to secure the expulsion of Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge from the House of Representatives, a man unworthy to sit in Congress. Hardly had the verdict been rendered against him in favor of Madeline Pollard when a meeting of prominent women was called to take action regarding the case of Col. Breckinridge. Representatives of several female organizations met at Willard's Hotel Saturday night and after an interesting conference adopted resolutions calling upon Congress to consider the qualifications of Representative Breckinridge for membership in that body.

Some of the resolutions adopted were: That the women of Washington, D. C., be organized into a league for the purpose of securing the removal of Breckinridge from Congress. Burned to Death.

Little Ruby Hartley, the 6 year old daughter of Constable J. C. Hartley, of the Masse neighborhood of the county, met a horrible fate yesterday by being burned to death. She and a little sister were out playing in a field where some grass was being burned by a brother. The little one caught fire and she ran screaming. When overtaken by the brother every thread of clothing was burned off her body and it is needless to say the little one's body was horribly burned. The victim was removed home and a physician summoned. She lingered in terrible agony until about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when death relieved her sufferings. Parties came to the city last night and purchased a coffin.

The sermon was interesting and instructive; it was purely historical and was full of information. He said God never did anything immutably; the coming of Christ was not too early and none too late, but just at the proper time. He offered six reasons to show why this was true.

1. Because human religions had failed.
2. Because human philosophy had failed.
3. Because human society had failed to secure men their rights.
4. Because the old Testament law, without Christ, had failed to save mankind.
5. Because God had by his providence prepared the world for his coming.
6. Because the time predicted in prophecy had arrived.

Messrs. J. H. and D. J. Hubbard, the well known Shady Grove merchants, are financially embarrassed. Two suits have been filed against them; one for $528.70, by Murray, Dobbell & Co., of Nashville, and the other for $128.69 by Wilkoyte, Frazier & Co. Attachments for their stock were also issued, and the goods are in charge of an agent of the Sheriff. The unfortunate merchants are endeavoring to effect a compromise.

The Schubert's Thursday night of next week.

Tuesday Mr. John D. Wynns and Miss Minnie Rice, prominent young people from near Providence, Webster county, came to Marion and were quietly united in marriage at the residence of Mr. J. W. Goodloe, Rev. W. R. Gibbs officiating, in his usual felicitous style. Quite a number of Marion people witnessed the ceremony and congratulated the happy young man and his beautiful bride. Shortly after the ceremony they returned to their home. They are of the best families in Webster county.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Wm. T. Croft and Miss Darthula Pettit.

Robt S. Paris and Miss Mary Driskill.

Walter D. Terry to Miss Alice Baker.

Hollman, the tramp who was on the rock pile for eighteen days, skipped out while the marshal was absent for a few minutes. As this is the highest price labor the town buys, no body weeps when the laborer leave for distant parts.

W. J. Elder, the Fredonia stock man, was in town yesterday. Two years ago he sold one of his fine saddle stallions to Berry Butler, of Fayette, Ills, for $450. Now he says the horse could not be purchased for $1,000.

I am selling fertilizers at less money than others. My goods are the equal of any, and better than many. Save money by buying of me.

P. H. Woods, Crayneville, Ky.

Don't throw your money and time away on cheap fertilizers. You can not afford to experiment in this line. We sell only fertilizers that have been thoroughly tried. Get our prices. n43-4w Pierce & Son.

The Prohibitionists have nominated Josiah Harris for Congress. Mr. Harris is a good man, and will get a few more votes than did Dr. Smith.

A tight rope performer drew a large crowd on the street Tuesday, and drew numerous nickles from the pockets of the crowd.

The busiest man in all Marion is Mr. H. A. Haynes. Besides attending to the duties of the office of Circuit Clerk, he is agent for near all the fire insurance companies that do business in Marion, the guardianship he has are un-numbered, and he is secretary and treasurer of eight building and loan associations represented here, is secretary and treasurer of the Marion circuit of the Methodist church, he writes life insurance, also, is an examiner, administrator of a few estates, occupies the principal office in the K. P. lodge, is secretary of the Republican county committee, and until recently has been superintendent of the largest Sunday School in town. He is a success at all of these besides rearing a family of five children. He has never failed at but one thing and that was in an attempt to grow beard.

It would be worth while for the ladies to bear in mind that if they take a gentle course, Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the spring, they will have no trouble with "prickly heat," "hives," "scares," "boils," or "black heads," when summer comes. Prevention is better than cure.

The best harrow on the market is the English All-Purpose Harrow, sold by W. J. Elder. He sold 65 to the best farmers of Crittenden and Caldwell last season. He will call upon the farmers of Crittenden and all he asks is a hearing. See his harrow work.

The creamery will remain locked up until another term of court. If the people of Marion had to do without butter until the court adjudicates that matter the festive biscuit would forget his cunning.

W. S. Beavers asks for a divorce from his wife, Dollie M. Beavers. He claims they were married in Crittenden county in 1885. They have four children. In 1892 she abandoned him without cause.—Paducah News.

If you enjoy fine music, attend the concert Thursday night. There are seven people in the Schubert attraction—four men and three ladies. Each is an artist. Do not fail to patronize this enterprise.

John Mabry, a big farmer of the Caldwell Springs neighborhood, reports that he has plenty of tobacco plants to meet his expectations. The plants in the beds which sloped to the north or west, were very slightly injured, while those that had a southern slope and were exposed to the sun's rays were utterly destroyed.

The following persons were before the board of pension examiners yesterday:

Geo. Musgrove, of Providence.

Jno. E. Farmer, of Dixon.

Isaiah Ramsey, of Vanderburg.

Persons who use fertilizers will find it to their interest to see me before buying. I handle an extra article at the lowest price. P. H. Woods, Crayneville, Ky.

Chronic constipation, with all its attendant evils, is cured by taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

Mr. R. N. Walker, of this place, has purchased a fine Jersey bull.

All persons having claims against the estate of A. E. Clark, dec'd., are requested to present them to me, properly proven, on or before May 31, 1894. I have some money in my hands belonging to the estate, which I want to distribute.

J. W. Blue, Jr., Ex'r.

G. F. Jennings will put up a small planing mill.

Jess Olive is making an addition to his residence.

The second session of the Academy is half off Friday.

A RE-UNION MEETING.

Union Church to Hold a Re-Union Meeting Saturday May 12.

One of the oldest and most substantial Baptist churches in the county is Union, eight miles west of Marion. She has a proud history, a glorious name and a live membership. On Saturday May 12, a re-union meeting will be held, and it is proposed to make this meeting an eventful period in her history. The committee on programme have prepared the following and furnish a copy for publication.

PROGRAM.

Of the re-union meeting of Union church, to be held at her house of worship, on Saturday May 12, 1894. The exercises to be opened by song and prayer at 9 a. m.

Address of welcome by G. S. Summers at 9:30 a. m., song and prayer. The object of the meeting by E. B. Blackburn, at 9:45 a. m.

G. S. Summers, J. R. Carter, N. Barnes, Com.

Wants a Divorce.

Monday Mrs. Julia Wadley, nee Armstrong, filed a suit asking to be divorced from her husband, G. W. Wadley. They were married at Golconda, Ills., in 1892, and lived together until August, 1893, when the petition alleges the defendant abandoned the wife, "that the behavior of the defendant towards her for the last six months that they lived together was of such a cruel and inhuman manner as to indicate a settled aversion to her and to destroy permanently her peace and happiness;" the plaintiff says the defendant has a bad and outrageous temper, and that he would curse and abuse her, and that he struck her three times with his fist, knocking her down each time.

A Swell Colored Wedding.

Sunday night Giles Hamilton, one of the pillars and mainstays of the colored citizenship of Marion, and Belle Armstrong, a well known colored woman, were happily united in marriage in the colored Baptist church, Rev. J. S. Harris officiating. The church was arrayed for the event, and a multitude of friends witnessed the tying of the conjugal knot. The bride was arrayed in spotless white, while the matter-of-fact groom graced a suit of conventional black. It was a great event with the colored people.

Appellate Convention.

The Democratic Committee of this Appellate district met at Paducah yesterday and called a convention to be held at Paducah, Ky., on May 12, 1894. The organization is for the purpose of organizing a State ticket, to appoint delegates to the State ticket. The pleasure.

Will support Kolb.

In the Potomac will take at Jas. Woods, co., machinery $1.50 for resisting an engine from W. R. Wallingford.

Robt Stokes fined $1.00.

Crawford For Sheriff.

EDITOR PRESS.—I have just been shown a letter which leads me to believe that Mr. Green B. Crawford would accept the Democratic nomination for sheriff, if he is assured that it would give general satisfaction. To the people of the western portion of the county Mr. Crawford needs no introduction; here his many good qualities as a citizen, a neighbor and a friend are known and appreciated by people of all parties. All know that he would fill with honor to the office; his qualifications are undisputed, and his unassailable character as a citizen and man certainly commend him to the favorable consideration of his party. I write this without Mr. Crawford's knowledge or consent, I do it solely because I know that his nomination would add strength to the ticket. Like all good Democrats, I want men on the ticket who we will be proud of if successful, and not ashamed of if defeated. Green Berry Crawford is that kind of a man. Four years ago Hurricane gracefully yielded the nomination to another precinct, give it to us this time, and have no fears of the result.

A DEMOCRAT.

Rev. Fife.

A few weeks ago, the PRESS announced that Rev. Fife had promised to come to Marion and hold a Union revival. Arrangements have not yet been completed principally, because a house sufficiently large has not been obtained but it is expected to perfect plans yet. The evangelist closed a meeting at Maysville on the 16, and a dispatch from that place says: "Rev. Fife, the drummer evangelist, closed a two-weeks' meeting last night and nearly 1,000 people with Bibles in their hands followed him to the train this morning to say good-bye. An impressive prayer service was held at the depot. It is claimed that the meeting just closed resulted in over 500 converts. Rev. Fife carries away $1,350 for his services, being the third greatest sum he ever received from any meeting."

Warren Moore Dead.

A dispatch from De Land, Fla., yesterday announced the death of Warren Moore, formerly of this place. He was a son of the late Rev. Tom Moore, and a brother of Mrs. G. E. Boston, of this place.

Deeds Recorded.

Wm. L. White to Dora White and others, 70 acres for $450.

T. N. Wofford to Allen Wofford, 8 1/2 acres for $500.

J. B. Perry to J. O. Dixon, lots in Tolu for $800.

T. R. Bradford to David Bradford, 70 acres for $350.

M. F. Chambliss to Chas. M. Waddell, interest in land for $50.

M. Schwab to Geo. W. Woodward, 25 acres for $250.

R. C. Walker to M. Schwab, lot for $125.

J. W. Wallace to Pierce & Son, lot for $200.

Mr. Lee Orme returned to Uniontown a few days ago. He has been in Moore & Orme's drug store some months, but will probably remain in Uniontown. He made friends while here.

The Robard correspondent of the Henderson Gleaner says:

Rev. W. H. Ligon, of Salersville is here holding a protracted revival in the Christian church, so full the air is filled with the fragrance of piety, and the parks and sidewalks with the throngs of the whole nation would feel the impulse and all mankind be made the happier and better through its influence. Either the treasurer would get a revenue or society be purified and population stimulated.

The real cause of the commercial depression is want of confidence, the hoarding of money, stagnation in trade, and dearth of investment, but with 4,000,000 of new brides moving into new quarters, setting up independent establishments and preparing for the responsibilities of wedlock the wheels of industry will once more begin to hum.—Washington Post.

Testimonials.

My DEAR SCHUBERTS.—It is with great pleasure that I hear that you are coming to Chautauqua again in '94. During your frequent previous visits, you have so graciously, not only our critical musical people, but our music loving public as a whole, that the news of your return is always received with delight.

Sincerely Yours,
John H. Vincent.

Milwaukee, Nov. 16, 1892.

The Schubert Quartette have just been with us for the fourth consecutive year. We regard them as, by odds, the best Quartette we have ever had, and the entertainment they give is as nearly faultless as it seems possible to secure. This year was the best of all.

C. B. Willis.
Secretary Y. M. C. A.

The Music Committee of the Richmond Mozart Association, take great pleasure in recommending the Schubert Quartette as a first class combination in every respect. The last musicale was thoroughly enjoyed by a very large audience, composed of the music-lovers of this city. All testify to the high standard of the music rendered, and are unanimous in the opinion that it was the most enjoyable of the season.

E. R. Archer,
Chairman Music Com.

"Miss Clark's violin playing won every heart; her touch and harmonic effects were exquisite and her strength and purity of tone unusual in any but adult performers."—Evanville, Ind., Courier.

"Miss MacCorkle interprets pathetic humorous readings with equal power. The art of whistling, as presented in her two numbers, was a real revelation to those who have hitherto been skeptical as to the merits of this kind of musical attainment."—Providence News.

The Schuberts will be at the Opera House, Marion, Ky., Thursday night, April 26.

Don't forget that we will sell you strictly hand made leather goods at 1/2 price. In Charleston, on the 1st inst. Gov. Tillman today concerning the Governor's proclamation assuming control of the police to carry out the dispensary law. Gov. Tillman, in speaking of their interview to-night, said: "I asked him to consult with his Chief of Police. I do not want to disorganize present forces. I do not intend to have any more dodging or hesitating in enforcing the law. I have had an understanding which is likely to prevent further friction in Charleston. I may have to use more than moral pressure in some places, but I do not wish to interfere anywhere. There are places where I shall ask for removals and substitution of other men, as I know some are not fit to carry out the law."

A Little Plain Talk.

Some folks seem to have an idea that our new rules do not apply to correcting this erroneous impression. We will state with an emphasis that what applies to one of our customers applies with equal force to them all. Discrimination in business is not right. Every one should receive equal treatment. The poor should buy goods just as cheap as the rich. All will admit that the credit system is ruinous to both merchant and customer. The only correct way to do business is on a strict cash basis. This system gives you every protection and saves you from being deceived. You may buy your goods very much cheaper, simply pay for what you get and do not help to pay for goods that some one else has bought.

See the World's Fair Fifteen Cents.

Upon the receipt of your address and fifteen cents in postage stamps we will mail you prepaid our Souvenir Portfolio of the World's Columbian Exposition, the regular price is fifty cents, but as we want you to have one we make the price nominal. You will find it a work of art and a thing to be prized. It contains full page views of the great buildings, with descriptions of same, and is executed in highest style of art. If not satisfied with it, after you get it, we will refund the stamps and let you keep the book. Address

HEROIC TESTS OF ANTIDOTES

Doctors Have Deliberately Placed Their Own Lives in Jeopardy.

There is no difference of opinion among doctors as to the heroic display by Dr. William Moore, the specialist on therapeutics, who has discovered that permanent potassium is an antidote for morphine poisoning, and proved it the other day when he counteracted the effects of what ordinarily would be a fatal dose of morphine by swallowing his new found antidote. Some of the doctors who were present left the room. Those who remained had the opportunity of congratulating him upon his discovery and self-confidence. Such cases are not uncommon. Almost all successful physicians have at some time placed their lives in jeopardy to experiment on themselves. Drugs, poisons and narcotics are the favorite subjects of experiments, and physicians boast that many obscure heroes have laid down their lives in the interests of science because their calculations failed. A Brooklyn physician, while traveling in France with his wife, was forced to go through the cholera districts some years ago. He had a new theory of his own for the cure of cholera, and his wife was in the fever of dread over this chance of infection. This man inoculated himself with the germs of cholera, and then, with two paid attendants, isolated himself from the rest of the world and put his theory into practice, having left no more directions for his treatment before delirium set in. In a week he was cured. Shortly after his wife was stricken and he could not apply his remedy. His wife died and he never again tried his discovery. To this day he does not know whether his experiment was a success or not. But it was none the less heroic.

CUT OFF FROM CIVILIZATION.

An American Family Which Has Been in the World Twice.

G. H. Greig, from Fanning Island, was in San Francisco recently. This is the case of a little group that has been in the world twice. Greig, who is an American, here members of this family left an ideal life, apart from all others of their kind, save a hundred natives, who do their work. Greig, who is an American, here members of this family left an ideal life, apart from all others of their kind, save a hundred natives, who do their work. Greig, who is an American, here members of this family left an ideal life, apart from all others of their kind, save a hundred natives, who do their work.

"It is not generally known," said Mr. Greig, "that Fanning Island is a British possession. It is the property of our family, who work it for copra and guano. It is a coral islet, with a fine lagoon, which has been entered by several war ships, American, British and also Japanese. The island has a circumference of about thirty miles. It was annexed to Great Britain in 1850 by Admiral Richards. The place would make a first-class naval coaling station. The proposed cable across the Pacific ocean, from Australia to British North America, will probably cross Fanning Island. In that event we will feel quite in the world."

That Boy Daniel. As a boy, Daniel was not over fond of labor. On one occasion his father returned from a short journey and found certain work undone. Summoning the boys, he asked sharply: "Ezekiel, what have you been doing?" "Nothing, sir," was the reluctant reply. "Well, Daniel, what have you been doing?" "Helping Zeke, sir," was the prompt and cheerful answer, and the father's anger was lost in his mirth. On another occasion Daniel was put to mow the grass, and he was so tired that he fell asleep. When he awoke, he found that his father was angry with him. "All right," said his father, "hang it to suit yourself." Thereupon Daniel hung the scythe upon a tree, remarking: "There, that is hung to suit me. And he mowed no more that day."

A Short Way With Them. A hint on the domestic question—how to get the girls married—is contained in the following: A thriving trader in Wisconsin, with eleven daughters, succeeded, greatly to the astonishment of his neighbors, in marrying them all off in six months. A friend of his, who had likewise several single daughters, called upon him to obtain the secret of his success, when the latter informed him he had made it a rule, after a young man had paid a visit to one of his girls a fortnight, and request him to choose between death and matrimony! "You can imagine, continued he, 'what a pathos was the result.' After a few days she slowly chie away. It seems cruel to deny her the privilege of dying in the arms of her husband, but the refusal of Governor Brown to extend a pardon will meet with general approval. The tear of commiseration does not wipe out the demands of justice.

"At present the people are taking out of the hide of Democracy vengeance for ill for which Democracy is not responsible. It is an old fashion, when disastrous prophecy comes true, to stone the prophets. Voters do not let the stop to think that protection is doing country that is without sins of that its perfect work, and that we are enjoying McKinley's unchanged, undiluted and unrepented.—Philadelphia Record.

ABOUT THE BOYS.

Count y Boys in a Ever Been Class Up to the Irons.

What if boys have on the farm do grow restless, dissatisfied, discontented. Not all the boys have on the farm can find profitable employment there. What if they turn to enter the lists in the never struggling for achievement, for greatness, for fame, in medicine, in the pulp, in statesmanship? They were fortunate in being born on a farm in being trained to industry, to endurance, to sacrifice. They have received good physical training and laid the foundation of character fitted to battle with the temptations of progress. Had Jefferson remained on the farm who would have written our Declaration of Independence, the justification of our rebellion from the tyranny of the mother country? Had George Greeley remained upon the block, sterile New England farm upon which he was born, who would have founded the New York Tribune and made possible the Republican Party, organized to prevent the further spread of human slavery? Had Abraham Lincoln remained a coal splitter, who would have struggled so hard and so powerfully to save the union, with slavery, and finding that impossible to save it without slavery? And so we might go on and wherever man has won his brightest laurels, made the greatest progress there, you find the natives of the rural districts in the majority. If farmers boys have left the farm they have given a good account of themselves in other pursuits.

A DREADFUL DISCLOSURE.

Five Women Have Pretended to Come on Their Feet to the Sun.

"Probably not one young man in a hundred, who dreams of his lady love, ever thinks of her as having come," said a young chap, who had other day to a New York reporter as he deftly finished some professional attention to the reporter's little too and not much more. "That will be 50 cents, please."

It would be impossible to get a girl to walk along a beach in summer in such a plight, and it is no wonder the dear creatures wear stockings when they bathe in public.

Taking a Drive With Grant.

I was a resident of Detroit when the late Gen. Grant was a captain of infantry and stationed at Fort Wayne. The military post near the city. Grant at the time owned a pacing pony that was as fast as a ghost. One day he invited Bishop McClosky to take a ride behind the pony. The bishop weighed 250 pounds and was very dignified. Grant, a cavalryman, was very dignified. Grant, a cavalryman, was very dignified. Grant, a cavalryman, was very dignified.

An Old Scat.

A farmer near Zena, Oregon, was engaged in cutting cordwood on his place. He chopped down an oak tree of about three feet in diameter at the base. After sawing it into the pieces, he intended to split it in two. He was committed to the task, but the grand jury is coquettish to be heard from; and unless the fellow ships out to a more salubrious climate, there is going to be trouble for him in the courts. We have as little of the tough element as any county in the State, but possibly give what we have of that element more trouble in court than any other county in the State. As to the civil case mentioned, we are frank to acknowledge that we have no answer to offer or apology to make; it is that way and can be no way; we are not going to choose Col. Thompson, son's plan of explaining the matter, but will have to stand and let the stop to think that protection is doing country that is without sins of that its perfect work, and that we are enjoying McKinley's unchanged, undiluted and unrepented.—Philadelphia Record.

CRUSHED THE AGENT.

His Intended Victim Led Him Where a Human Voice Was Useless.

"The toughest experience I ever had in my life, and a solicitor of life insurance, 'was with an iron manufacturer in Troy. I had been informed that he was a hard customer, but a wealthy man and one who had been less neglected to provide himself with insurance, and so I resolved to tackle him. Upon entering his office and explaining the nature of my business I was surprised at his greeting. It was friendly, even cordial. Life insurance,' said he. Well, now, that's a subject that interests me. Come with me to the shop. I've got to go there, and you can tell me all about the superiority of your company over all others.' Then he took up his hat and bade me follow him. As we went out of the office I noticed a smile on the faces of all the clerks, and though I didn't understand it I smiled in return for I thought possibly they knew my errand and were congratulating me on my success. The proprietor walked hurriedly and I followed him, until at last he swung open a door. It was the machine shop. The air was terrible. A thousand hammers, I think, were all at work beating iron at once. Involuntarily I put my hands to my ears. Looking at my own face I saw my eyes were watering and my hands I just managed to catch a word, shouted above the deafening racket. 'Now, tell me all about it.' He smiled sarcastically as he said this, and I could have murdered him. It was impossible to say a word, and so I went right out. It was a darn mean trick."

A SWINGING AQUEDUCT.

One English Canal Carried Across Another on a Drawbridge.

The recently opened ship canal, which connects the city of Manchester, England with the sea, is of commercial rather than engineering importance. There were few difficulties to overcome in its construction, yet one of the novel features of the enterprise is so curious that it deserves passing notice. It is a very rare occurrence for one railroad track to be carried over another; much less frequently we see one canal connected across the line of another, but to have the intersections of two water routes provided with a drawbridge is still more unusual. This, however, was found the most satisfactory way of dealing with the problem presented by the route of Manchester's new highway to the Mersey ran up against the old Bridgewater canal, leading from Wigan, in Lancashire. Just what reason existed for not having a grade crossing does not appear, but it does appear that such a scheme was not deemed feasible, and hence the smaller canal was borne over the larger. But a few feet higher would have interfered with the masts, if not the smokestacks, of big ships, and therefore a swinging span, like that of an ordinary drawbridge, was resorted to. Obviously, the stationary ends of the severed waterway needed to be, and they are, equipped with gates, which must be closed before the swinging span is opened. The latter structure is similarly furnished, so that it is possible to open the "draw" with a floating barge on it.

QUEER NESTS FOR DUCKS.

Made of Ropes and Hung on Poles in the Marshes.

The water-fringed village of Gronow, in Friesland, Holland, is remarkable for two things—cheese and ducks. The latter are kept in great numbers, and three sides are thick with bulrushes and water grass, and afford excellent cover for wild ducks and other aquatic fowl. To promote the comfort of the former and at the same time facilitate the collection of the eggs the villagers construct nests. The nests are made of plaited reeds, and are hung on poles driven into the soil or perched between the forks of trees. Above each coterie the owner of the nests fixes pieces of colored cloth, which enables him to readily distinguish his nests from those of his neighbors. These bits of bantam are useful also to the birds, who invariably keep to their own nests. The owners go each morning in his boat to the nesting ground, thrusts his arm into the bottle-shaped nests, and collects their contents for the market.

How "Tommy Atkins" Got His Name.

Landon Truth is much obliged to the many correspondents who from time to time enlighten it as to the origin of the name "Tommy Atkins." To save further trouble, however, the paper mentions once for all that it is in possession of what it believes to be the most authentic and reliable information accessible on this important matter of history. It has always understood that "Thomas Atkins" was the fanny sign-giver of a job as a specimen form of a soldier's name. The question is, more than a half dozen of the Eastern states a barrel of grain is 5 bushels; of rice, 220 pounds; of sugar, 160 pounds, and of other commodities. A New York Dog Official. The New York gas works board of directors recently appointed a dog as assistant superintendent of its works, and a truly efficient officer he is. His name is Beauty and he made his appearance at the works some months ago, refusing to go away on any conditions. He has a curious habit, besides catching all the rats and mice about the building of compelling a stranger to give up his portable property before departing.

PICKANINIES CREMATED.

Three of Them Buried to Death in a Negro Cabin.

Pineville, Ky., April 17.—The cabin of John Duncan, a negro living about five miles from this place caught fire last night and burned down, cremating three small children. The children were left in the house a one and were too small to get away from the burning building.

PEACHES BY PORCELAIN.

The Secret a Glass That Permeates the Walls.

The peach-like porcelain, is of Chinese manufacture, and is about 80 years old. It is not, as is sometimes supposed, the designation of a particular shade of color, but a rare and peculiar glass, which not merely covers the surface of the vessel, but penetrates the entire texture of the article so that if the same be broken the internal structure is identical with that of the surface. The method by which this result is reached is unknown, and much money has been expended in vain to discover it. The ware is, in a sense, therefore, the result of a happy accident.

Specimens of it are rare in China today, where it is prized as highly as anywhere else. Most of that which there is definite knowledge was taken from China by the Dutch in the days when they monopolized the trade with that country, and from Holland has made its way over Europe. The specimens in this country have almost all of them come either from Holland direct, or by way of France, whither pieces of it were early carried by the Dutch, arousing much interest among the French potter.

550,000,000 IN MATCHES.

Value of the Yearly Output of European Factories.

The oldest and it is said the largest match-manufacturing in the world is in Sweden. Matches were made there long before the old, roughly trimmed splinter of wood tipped with sulphur was discarded with the tinder boxes, for which they were used. In twenty-five years the export trade of Sweden in matches increased from 1,000,000 boxes a year.

Attagothere are in Europe about

30,000 factories, and they yearly produce matches valued at $50,000,000.

Blindfold Religious Persons.

The practice of blindfolding religious persons still exists in India as is evidenced by the following from the Allahabad India Pioneer. The incident occurred recently at Meerut: "A fakir, wearing nearly five muslins (40 pounds) of iron chains and having on him recently left the entertainment station. The railway authorities declined to allow him to travel as a passenger, but sent him as goods by freight. He paid for his baggage, and a native woman never charged for his baggage and baggage. The iron absorbed the heat so much that the heat was to be in an ordinary sprinkled with water. He is an old man and nearly died at the station."

An Appropriate Prayer.

A reverend gentleman tells this story of a little boy. The boy was tired from a hard day's play, and when he retired he was too sleepy to say his goodnight prayer. His mother tried in vain to have him say it, and finally sent the father in. He found the boy just sinking into a tired sleep, and he said to himself, "I should get up and say his prayer. The little fellow arose, very drowsy, and began: 'O, dear Lord, please make papa say his prayers when he's as tired as I am. Amen.'"

Utilizing Slag.

The quantity of heat wasted by slag has suggested projects for utilizing it in raising steam, but nothing practical has been devised yet. In a mine in New South Wales the molten slag is run into the bottoms of iron chambers that can withstand lateral steam pressure, and jets of water are forced into the slag, so that the chambers are filled with steam that can be utilized in other parts of the works.

A New York Dog Official.

The New York gas works board of directors recently appointed a dog as assistant superintendent of its works, and a truly efficient officer he is. His name is Beauty and he made his appearance at the works some months ago, refusing to go away on any conditions. He has a curious habit, besides catching all the rats and mice about the building of compelling a stranger to give up his portable property before departing.

Various Barrels.

A barrel of wine, beer or cider contains 31 1/2 gallons, the Cincinnati lamp oil barrel has 43 gallons, the Kentucky whiskey barrel from 40 to 45 gallons. In several states of the East a barrel, as a measure of articles other than liquids, is a legal fixed quantity. In a half dozen of the Eastern states a barrel of grain is 5 bushels; of rice, 220 pounds; of sugar, 160 pounds, and of other commodities.
